Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Base claims 11 and 21 along with dependent claims 19, 20, and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure, which is not enabling. Elements critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claims are not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976).

Claim 11 fails to connect the frequency boosting circuit and the current mirror circuit. As best understood, the disclosed invention relies on a feedback loop between the frequency boosting circuit and the current mirror circuit. It would appear that claim 11 requires at least the limitations of claim 12 to define a circuit properly functioning as disclosed. Likewise, it would appear that claim 21 requires at least the limitations of claim 22 to define a circuit properly functioning as disclosed. The disclosure does not support the circuit defined in claims 11 and 21. Claims 11 and 21 are not properly enabled.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant argues that claims 11 and 21 define a preferred embodiment. This "preferred embodiment" has no purpose or function remotely related to the spirit of the disclosed invention. Applicant cannot "prefer" to delete features upon which the function of the invention relies.

Applicant further points to bits and pieces of the disclosure to support the claims, but these bits and pieces also do not form any meaningful circuit. The circuit defined in claims 11 and 12 simply does not do anything related to the spirit of the disclosed invention. No meaningful purpose or function has been defined and one of ordinary skill in the art could not infer any meaningful function or purpose from what has been defined.

In light of Applicant's arguments, the art rejection is withdrawn.

Conclusion

4. Claims 12-18 and 22-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but may be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
